
Number: CSB-151125-1
Released: 25th November 2015
Modified:
Subject: Caution in using Rogue AP Suppression
Product: FortiWifi/FortiAP/FortiGate

Description:

When deciding to use Rogue AP suppression, Fortinet encourages their customers to consider the regulatory issues that are applicable in the countries in which the feature is being implemented.

In the U.S., such Rogue AP suppression may be subject to significant statutory and U.S. Federal Communications Commission (FCC) regulatory controls, restrictions, enforcement actions and penalties. Users are responsible for making sure that all uses of any suppression features(s) of Fortinet products are fully compliant with all applicable statutes, regulations, FCC enforcement actions & rules.

Possibly Affected Products:

Fortinet products which have the Rogue AP suppression feature. This includes FortiWifi and any FortiGate acting as a wireless controller for FortiAPs.

Technical Support Contact Information: http://www.fortinet.com/support/contact_support.html
Fortinet technical support home page: <https://support.fortinet.com>

All rights reserved. Fortinet®, FortiGate®, and FortiGuard®, are registered trademarks of Fortinet, Inc., and other Fortinet names herein may also be trademarks of Fortinet. All other product or company names may be trademarks of their respective owners. Statements contained herein were attained in internal lab tests under ideal conditions, and performance may vary; network variables, different network environments and other conditions may affect performance results. Nothing herein represents any binding commitment or admission of fault by Fortinet, and Fortinet disclaims all representations and warranties, whether express or implied, except to the extent Fortinet enters a binding written contract, signed by Fortinet's General Counsel, with an express representation or warranty included therein. All Fortinet end-customers are bound by the terms of Fortinet's current End User License Agreement. The information in this Customer Support Bulletin is provided for remedial purposes and is designed to assist customers in corrective action that may be helpful to the customer.